Louise S. Damaged

Fishing Schooner Goes A- shore in Gale

Capt. McCoy, of the fishing schooner, Louise S. came to Wrangell Tuesday and reports the Louise S. is damaged and the small launch used for a tender, a total loss at Totem Bay, the result of a southeaster.

Capt. McCoy installed the engine from the small launch to a trolling sail and came to Wrangell for men to help repair the damaged schooner.

Capt. McGhee left Wednesday morning for Totem Bay with his launch, Laura May, and will work with Capt. McCoy in repairing the schooner.

Substitute For Tea.

The Germans prepare an excellent substitute for tea from the leaves of the common strawberry plant.

A Quick Spender.

Tiberius at his death left $118,125, of which Caligula spent in less than ten months.

Love and a Canoeboat.

Why is love like a canoeboat? Because it is an instant transport.—London Daily Mail.

Calder Marble

Work to Open

Extensive preparations are being made with the view of reopening the Calder Marble Works early next season.

Repairs on the gasboat, Mabel, are completed and the owner, J. McCallum expects to have her in commission soon.

Thackeray in France.

France might reckon Thackeray, along with Edward, the king of sunny memories, as the most Parisian of Britons, for truly did Thackeray know and love the life of the boulevards, ebbing and flowing between the Bastille and the Bois, the cafes and the theaters, himself most aptly described by his own lines:

His land was free, his means was easy.
A finer, nobler gent than he
Ne'er drove around the Shores Elysee
Nor paced the Rue de Rivoli.
—Henry Watterson in Courier-Journal.

Who Wins?

"Dear philosopher," writes a correspondent, "will you please settle a dispute for us? A and B make a wager as to which can 'shoot' the most rabbits. The contestants take different territories and hunt all day. At the time appointed they meet. A has no rabbits at all, but B has an animal which proves to be A's pet cat. Who wins?"

It is hard to decide this bet. In view of the fact that B gets not only A's cat, but his goat, we should say that A should buy the cove oysters.—

F. S. Barnes Ill

Lake Bay Canneryman Suffers Attack of Appendicitis.

F. S. Barnes, of Lake Bay, while in Wrangell on business was suddenly taken ill with appendicitis last Monday morning.

His condition at present is much improved.

Court Convenes

Grand Jury in Session, Prisoners taken South

U. S. Dept. Marshal, Schnabel and Revenue Officer, Earl Hagler, went south to Ketchikan on the Humboldt this morning with three prisoners and eight witnesses who will figure in trials before the Grand Jury at Ketchikan.

Eddie Lynch and C. E. Duffy returned from Santa Ana Saturday. These sportsmen hunted and fished from the lower end of Wrangell Island to Wrangell but as their bag and catch is not good advertising for the country, no statistics are advanced.

What Ruined Rome.

What ruined Rome was not the barbarian invasion, but, first, a declining birth rate and the dissolution of the marriage tie; second, overwhelming taxation, especially on the land; third, the introduction of a caste system through government action; fourth, the attempt of the state to act as a universal providence; fifth, the endowment of idleness, and, sixth, the neglect of national defense by the refusal to train the population to arms and by reliance solely on a professional army.—London Spectator.

Brutality to Sea Elephant.

The whole history of the sea elephant is a record of cruel and wasteful slaughter at the hands of man. One after another its haunts in the bleak islands of the southern ocean have been visited and the beasts relentlessly killed off. For more than a century the work of devastation has gone on; and now the sea elephants of the south are a scattered remnant, whose extermination will only be averted when it ceases to pay to hunt them down. Already this is happening with the walrus in the north.—London Graphic.

Swiss Cow Bells.

It is the custom of Swiss mountaineers to hang bells on the necks of their cows, and so accustomed and attached do the animals become to these bells that the deprivation of them is felt as a punishment. If any cow has been guilty of straying or unseemly behavior, a breach of discipline or any vicious trick the displeasure of the herdsman is not testified by blows, but by temporary deprivation of her bell, and this seldom fails to reduce her to order and to prevent a repetition of the offense.

Just Where She Was.

Mr. Oldboy walked into his library the other evening and beheld his only daughter comfortably ensconced on the knees of young Squire Beeswing. He looked his surprise, and the young couple blushed.

The older man was the first to recover his presence of mind and smiled sardonically.

"I see you've nearly finished your race for a husband, Marianne," he observed.

"I don't understand you, papa."

"Well, my dear, I notice you're on the last lap."—Pearson's.

Skagway Agent

Will Recover

Late advices from Skagway report that Guptil, who was beaten about the head in the steamship office on the night of Oct. 19th, is expected to recover.

The assistant agent is held in the Skagway jail on charge of assault.

When the Shoe Pinches.

"My own common sense and the shoe clerk permitting, I shall never wear another pair of tight shoes," said a woman, "but if I should be inveigled into making myself uncomfortable I know what I shall do to allay the pain. The ministrations to the aching feet of a man who called on my Italian cobbler for relief showed me a remedy. The man's shoes pinched in three different places. Having located the painful spots Rafael dipped a long strip of cotton flannel into boiling water and held the cloth stretched tightly across the man's shoes. When the water began to evaporate he dampened the cloth again and repeated the process several times.

"Now," said he at last, 'your shoes are set to your feet. No more hurt.' The man gave him a quarter, which I thought a small price to pay for relief from a pinching shoe."—New York Sun.

The Only Way Out.

Peter (sent for the milk)—Oh, mercy, I've drunk too much of it! What shall we do? Small Brother—Easy. We'll drop the jug.—Meggendorfer Blatter.

Skating Rink

Wrangell to have Popular Amusement

N. L. Moen has purchased Wm. Fletcher's lot on Front St. and has made preparations for the building of a skating rink with a floor 40 x 100 ft. The work on the building will go forward at once.

The first consignment of skates will be an assortment of seventy five pairs.

With good management, a place of amusement should prove popular and it is expected that many Wrangell people will enjoy the sport.

A Crisis.

Mrs. Highupp—What's the matter, dear?

Mrs. Blase—I'm sure I won't know how to take care of little Emma after next year. You see, she is seven now, and I never had a dog that lived over eight.—Puck.

Sore on Them.

He—I feel, darling, that I am not half good enough to be your husband, but—

She—But what, George?
He—I'm a darn sight too good to be the son-in-law of your grouchy parents.—New York Journal.

School Notes

Weston Dalgity, Correspondent

None of the pupils seem to fear the results of the examinations, which begin tomorrow.

If all goes well for the Seniors class tomorrow and Friday they will soon organize.

Miss Leona Lindman of the Senior class fell and sprained her ankle while walking down the steps last Monday noon and as a result was unable to come to school in the afternoon.

The pupils of the primary room busily engaged in the task of making booklets for Halloween. The blackboards are covered with innumerable pictures of goblins, witches and jack-o'-lanterns.

Monday afternoon the scholars were much surprised upon lining up after the last bell had rung to receive the orders, "left, right, left, right," instead of hearing the music and the drum. It seems that there had been a misunderstanding between the chief musician and the assistants, and the Drum Major and his assistant, but all has been satisfactorily settled.

Miss Edna Dawes was a welcome visitor to the grammar room last Monday.

Modern Maps.

There are Egyptian maps dating from 1400 B. C., but in spite of this long history it has been astonishingly difficult to make progress in charts until very recent times. Errors are perpetuated; truth is forgotten; advance is slow. As late as 1900 charts of the Alaskan coast issued by the United States were said to be thirty miles wrong, and nearly all commercial map makers still represent mountain chains as caterpillars, and the fringe of the shore is adorned with a blue wavy frill. As for railroad maps, the less said the better, the great railroad map of the northern belt of the United States adorning the walls of the Broad street Pennsylvania station in Philadelphia being distorted east and west, north and south and otherwise, its accuracy in large part not being over 30 per cent. yet it is more than usually good railroad map.—Engineering Magazine.

An English King's Death.

William Rufus was killed by an arrow, either accidental or with murderous intent. He died in the New forest. His body was stripped by tramps and the next day was found by a charcoal burner, who placed the naked corpse on his cart, hoping to receive a reward. On the way to Winchester the cart was upset, and the king's body fell in the mire. Covered with filth and black with charcoal, it arrived in Winchester, where it was buried in the cathedral. A few years later the tower fell and crushed the tomb, and 600 years after the Puritans rifled the grave and played football with the king's skull.

The Best She Could Do.

"There is only one reason," he said, "why I have never asked you to be my wife."
"What is that?" she asked.
"I have always been half afraid you might refuse."
"Well," she whispered after a long silence, "I should think you'd have curiosity enough to want to find out whether your suspicion was well founded or not."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Damascus Swords.

It is seldom that a really good specimen of a Damascus sword can be obtained, for the art of working and engraving the kind of steel of which they are made is lost. These famous swords were made of alternate layers of iron and steel so finely tempered that the blade would bend to the hilt without breaking.

Beautiful, but Dangerous.

The laburnum is a beautiful tree. Unfortunately, however, like many other beautiful things, laburnum blossom is dangerous. The long, yellow flowers and the seeds which presently take their place contain poison—cytisine—so powerful that a hundredth part of a grain injected under the skin of a cat or a dog is sufficient to cause its death. In ten seeds of laburnum there is sufficient poison to kill a child, and there are a number of cases on record of death from this cause. Also the laburnum exercises an evil effect upon the vegetable world. The gardener will tell you that flowers will not flourish in the ground about a laburnum tree.—London Globe.

Safe From Detectives.

"Do you know," began the barber as he laid the latter thickly over his client's mouth, "that we're the only fellows I know of that could commit a crime and not be detected through the Bertillon system or whatever it is that plagues people by their thumb prints?"
The victim moved uneasily in his chair, but circumstances over which he had no control sealed his lips. He grunted interrogatively and politely.
"Yes, sir; the reason is simple. We ain't got no thumb prints. We get 'em all worn off rubbing our thumbs over your feller's chins. Fact! I'll show you when I let you out of the chair. My thumbs are pretty near as ironed out looking as your face will be when I finish with you."—New York Press.

DEEDS THAT LIVE.

Each ray of light from a distant star has been traveling on through the ether for hundreds of years. Yet it still remains pure and strong enough to affect the negative plate of the astronomer's camera. So with a good deed. Set it going and who knows the end of it? Not the world of this century or the next, for its influence will travel on for ages to come.
